SILBER

傳承與新意 德國百年銀器

1874年，Nicolaus Christoph Robbe——現今 Robbe & Berking 擁有者的曾曾祖父，創立了一間製銀小工坊，主要提供餐具、餐桌飾品等，從設計、製造都不假他人之手，靠著他與妻子兩人的謙虛與技藝，這間小工坊也逐漸在弗倫斯堡打響知名度。

Royal silverware made for centuries.

Robbe & Berking 始終堅持銀器的製造程序——
塑形、切割、組裝、雕花——使用手工的方式製作。

Sterling silver

Silver is a rare precious metal. Silver has the highest light-reflecting properties of all known materials, which is why silver has such a bright, white metal shine.

Sterling silver has a standard of 925/1000; in other words it is made up of 92.5 percent pure silver and up to 7.5 percent of other metals.

The hallmark on the rear of the cutlery confirms the quality and origin. The crescent and crown are the symbols for the silver and the country of origin. A festively dressed table with top-quality sterling silver cutlery from Robbe & Berking turns every meal into a real feast.

12"

For more than 100 years the 12m yachts have been the epitome of sailing elegance and beauty. The world's mecca of these more than 20-meter-long icons today is the shipyard Robbe & Berking Classics. To experience their spirit, more than 100.000 people travel to Flensburg every year. High time to unveil a silver monument to them, whose name leaves no doubt about the provenance of its graceful lines: 12

Alt-Chippendale

Alt-Chippendale radiates perfect harmony, and possesses the perfect proportions for which Thomas Chippendale's work was so famous. The almost old-fashioned attention to detail is one of the characteristics which mark the Alt-Chippendale. The striking semicircular-profile Chippendale thread encompasses both the front and rear sides of the cutlery items - a special feature only to be found on Robbe & Berking Alt-Chippendale.

Alt-Faden

Experts recognise the Robbe & Berking Alt-Faden immediately. The thread pattern as manufactured by Robbe & Berking originates from approximately 1760. Augsburg silversmith work bordered by a single or double silver thread was developed very early on in the history of silverware. The fact that this thread is repeated on the rear side and runs out into a shell shape is the unmistakable proof for those in the know that an item comes from Robbe & Berking.

Alt-Spaten

Alt-Spaten impresses customers with its almost horizontal shoulders and the extended spade-shaped handle. The spade pattern originated in this classic form at the start of the 18th century. The expressive "ear" shape below the mouthpiece is particularly artistic. These "ears" can only be worked individually by hand into this shape - another detail of this well-known classic which is typical of Robbe & Berking.

Französisch-Perl

Französisch-Perl takes its lightness and charm from the end of the Rococo period. However, the clear shape of the silver cutlery shows the influence of the early French Classicism. The striking, sculptured beading displays top artisan silversmith artwork. The revered Paris silversmiths of the 18th century could not have manufactured this elegant pattern more finely.

Martelé

Martelé came into the world on the 125th anniversary of the silver manufactory. The amassed experience of numerous silversmith generations is united in this anniversary masterpiece, which is a top silver artwork performance. The finely-modulating hammer finish permits softly-swung facets to be generated, which reflect light hundred-fold and thus provide this cutlery with an almost unreal lightness and vibrancy.

Chopstick

The origin of chopsticks goes back more than 3000 years. Even today they still offer practical advantages: Chopped up ingredients are cooked faster and absorb sauces much better.

Manufactured in beautiful wood and refined with 925 Sterling Silver elements, Robbe & Berking chopsticks are available in five designs, both in Chinese (long & blunt) and Japanese (shorter & pointed) version.

Bordbar

The vessels of the Dante and Martelé collections are like ingredients in a cocktail. Mix silver-plated, gold-plated and hammered drinking vessels - to match your bar, the occasion or to match the respective drink.

There are not often occasions that require a really good drink. But then it must appeal to all senses. The Martelé Bar collection makes every drink or cocktail a small piece of art - both for casual and for very fine-dining. For the best mixologists every drink is a work of art. For them the lovingly crafted Martelé barware becomes the special stage for their special creations. Manu factum. Handmade. From the best ingredients - like the drink for which they were created.

Champagne

The high temperature conductivity of silver, allows the silver flute to immediately assume the temperature of the Champagne. Contrary to all other materials, the coolness and freshness of the silver flute immediately creates a pleasure in hand and mouth. Convince yourself about this new experience.

Silver & Crystal

Table accessories from Robbe & Berking made from crystal and silver combine the wonderful brilliance of these two fine materials. The crystal caviar bowl, for example, means that your caviar can always be served with style and enjoyed cold. Other bowls can be used as more than just sweet bowls; they provide a space for pralines and baked goods, or offer a place to store jewellery that has been produced by another company.
